

Securing enough water for 2025

Only 0.76 % of water on the Earth is fresh and available for use. Finite supplies are under stress due to increasing agricultural, industrial and domestic demands.

Careful assessment of groundwater and surface water resources to provide water security is a priority of the IAEA's Water Resources Programme.

(Data sources: P. Gleick, Sci. Am. Feb. 2001; UN World Water Development Report, 2003).